read more Another wonderful week with friends, family and fish has come and gone and with that week came a bonus day off for many as we celebrated Memorial Day one again... read more Be sure to follow us this spring and summer on our Facebook page to follow all of our guide client catches on Leech Lake, Mille Lacs, Brainerd, Cass Lake, and many other places throughout Central Minnesota. Sunny calm days have the fish shut down some but they can still be caught. read more It's been awhile, a little while, but it was rather quick this time. Water temps have dropped from the cool weather but the perch bite continues to be consistent. Fishing continues to have good and slow days, but as a whole it has been good for crappies, panfish, and jumbo perch. read more After a week with seemingly endless wind, we were once again greeted with more of the same this past week. read more The last couple of weeks have brought some much needed changes to Leech Lake and when I say needed I mean NEEDED, yes, all caps was necessary to express myself... read more After a few weeks of missed blogs, we're back! time to close the gap and get everyone back up to (trolling) speed. Brainerd Fishing Report Crappie fishing is still going strong in the Brainerd area. Deeper pencil reads and submerged cabbage beds will hold fish on cooler days. read more Following a week/weekend like we had last week and over Memorial Day this past week feels like the calm after the storm, after checking my pedometer history over the last.. The month of.. Focus on the Major and Minor feeding windows as well as any kind of weather events that may change the mood of the fish. We are super excited to be back open for the 2021 summer season, winter was quick this.. We have found the weeds have been a better focus on the warm weather days and windy cooler days with cloud cover have turned rock and sand fish on. Pitching jigs with minnows, crawlers and leeches has worked well at times on calm days in and around weed / sand transition areas in the areas of the Walker Narrows, North Walker Bay and Steamboat bay. After a two-week hiatus that included weather that about made me melt into a puddle on the ground, I'm back with a little Leech Lake fishing update/blog. read more With a few days of much needed rest after last weekends flurry of walleye activity guests wasted no time making their way back up north to Leech Lake for the.. We are working to stay on top of it. Main lake rocks, Pencil Reeds, Sand shore lines, Cabbage flats, and Coon tail weeds are all holding fish. Leech Lake Lake Fishing Report Leech Lake area is no change from prior week. With the fore casted cool down, expect the fish to stay out of the shallows and slow your presentations. We need some sunny and warmer days to help push fish into their shallow staging areas before spawn. Perch action was very good, with active pre spawn fish in a few different areas in depths of 4-6 ft. Here is a short Leech Lake Fishing Report along with a crappie and panfish report from the Brainerd Lakes Area. Fish are moving in and out of shallow water with the fluctuating water temps. Warmer days have the fish moving into the shallows by evening and with colder temps we will see those same fish back out to the 5-7ft depths. read more Last week was one of those weeks that really tests your patience. Muskies have been found this week in all forms of cover. Gusty winds from seemingly every direction blew their way around Leech Lake and when that happens getting to.. Perch fishing is beginning to pick up in the shallow weed areas in Portage bay, Sucker bay, Steamboat bay and the Walker Narrows area. White-capped waves pounded our rocky shores for hours that turned.. The key this time of year is stable weather it seems to have a consistent bite. The 10-12 foot flats north of 5 mile point has been a productive stretch for trolling as well. Target sand grass, Cabbage flats, and Pencil reeds in 4-6ft of water and keep moving until you find the bigger fish. We have been very busy this summer catching fish and making memories with customers both new and old. Plain hook and small crappie minnows may be what they are looking for. So busy, that our report has been missing as of late. Bobbers and leeches as well as trolling spinners and cranks can be productive in these same areas in the AM and PM periods. The past few weeks of fishing have been.. Surface temps (which can fluctuate rapidly this time of year) were already in the high 40's and even 50 in a few places. Trolling cranks on the main lake around rock reefs and wind blown shorelines on the south basin have started to produce nice catches as well as the sand flats around Goose Island. Leech Lake fishing report: Water Temp as of 9/2 = 69.7 degrees RECENT CATCHES Walleye fishing has been very consistent the past few weeks with many fish being caught in shallow water using multiple tactics. We were not able to find any crappies or bluegills yet in traditional early spring areas, however believe we are not more than a couple days away. We will continue to keep you all posted as conditions change and the water temps drop. With the walleye opener still a few weeks off, we will have plenty of time to sharpen our skills and practice hooksets on a few different species. Smaller walleyes have been traveling in these same areas so its a great way to catch multiple species this time of year. Musky fishing has been a little hit or miss as of lately. read more We're a few days into week 5 here in the Northwoods and things are right on track, the yard and lakes thirst for rain has finally been quenched we have.. Holy cow, is it really September already? The bite over all has been fantastic on Leech and it looks to continue to get better with a lot of fish in the mid 40's being caught this year.
