Read on for our FAQ with advice on the best dog guards and national rules about transporting dogs safely. Again, do check measurements and cross-reference with the dimensions of your car boot. If you have further questions about any of the crates mentioned, do get in touch. What else do I need to carry my dog in the boot?Prepare the space. It has a slanted front so it can really optimise the space available in your boot. Fabric Pet Carrier by Bunty A good alternative to a car crate is the Fabric carrier by Bunty. We definitely suggest measuring your own boot and cross-referencing with the crate dimensions. Trixie Friends on Tour Dog transport Box The Trixie Friends on Tour transport box for dogs is ideal for medium to large breeds. My dog finds it hard to climb into the car. This will make it easier to keep your car clean – and pay dividends come resale time, so you don’t have to sell your vehicle with that soiled, doggy smell. More compact breeds of dog should be fine in here, but larger dogs may get a little claustrophobic. Available in two sizes and in either standard or deluxe, the latter having thicker sturdier bars and the addition of a fleece liner in the tray. Parkers’ best large family car of 2021 Mercedes-Benz GLB (above) Our reigning medium family car has the smart Merc badge and clever tech, alongside a 700-litre loadbay and a choice of five or seven seats Dacia Duster If you’re after SUV space on a budget, the Duster is king. Suitable bedding should be placed on the floor to prevent the dog from slipping around during the journey.’ Can I leave my dog in the car when parked up?Yes, but only for short periods of time. We’d recommend a plastic boot liner, widely available for most models, to keep muddy paw prints, water and any accidents off your carpet. The Medium 30” is suitable for slightly larger dogs such as Schnauzers, Basset Hounds and Dachshunds. Our 2021 Car of the Year Skoda Octavia A family hatch with an enormous 600-litre loadbay and generously sized tailgate, making canine manoeuvres a doddle. Just remember to unlatch the luggage cover or parcel shelf; you’ll need to leave these at home, so your dog can see out and watch the world go by. The best small car for dogs on our shortlist are: Ford Puma (above) A brilliant compact hatchback with a dose of crossover cool: a reasonable 456-litre boot that includes a wash-out-able compartment below for muddy dog clobber. Ideal for short trips, it will keep your four-legged friend safe when out on the road. We often recommend that the best car for large dogs is an estate car for that reason, and you can usually fit a divider so you can carry your pet and your possessions without your shopping being at risk of being eaten on the run back from the supermarket. COZY PET Deluxe Car Dog Cage, Fits: Audi, BMW, Fiat, Ford, Hyundai, Jaguar, Kia, Range Rover, Mercedes-Benz, Mini, Nissan, Peugeot, Seat, Toyota, Vauxhall, Volkswagen, Volvo, Etc Puppy Crate: CDC01COZY PET Deluxe Car Dog Cage, 30” long Fits: Audi, BMW, Citroen, Fiat, Ford, Honda, Hyundai, Mini, Nissan, Peugeot, Renault, Seat, Skoda, Toyota, Vauxhall, VW, Volvo, Etc Puppy Crate: CDC02 Our travel mini series continues this week with Designed for the Road – Dog Car Travel Crates. Further reading >> Need something cheaper? In this explainer Parkers picks 2022’s best cars for dogs and their owners, naming the finest vehicles on sale today – in a variety of sizes and price points for every need and budget. This could become mucky after winter walks in Mudfordshire... The best boots for large dogs can be found among this lot: SEAT Tarraco A capacious seven-seater with a generous 700-litre boot when the third-row seats are folded away (or 230 litres with every seat in place). Always leave a window ajar for fresh air, remember to disable your alarm’s interior motion sensor (read the handbook) and never leave your pet in a hot car. It sounds blindingly obvious, but you’ll need a vehicle with a decent-sized boot – your furry friend won’t appreciate being bundled into a tiny loadbay. We know certain models, but we’re certainly not car experts! Also, the crate may fit your car, but not have room for anything else – it’s best you measure and decide how much room the crate will fill and whether it will fit into your lifestyle... Ellie-Bo Car Crate - Available in Standard and Deluxe and in two sizes The Ellie Bo Slanted Car Crate is the crate we get the most questionsabout. The Welfare of Animals (Transport) (England) Order 2006 and The Welfare of Animals (Transport) (Wales) Order 2007 dictate that you must not transport your dog in a way that may cause injury or suffering to the animal. It’s useful to have a dog bed that you can keep in your car: somewhere your pet can call home and snooze in while you drive off on adventures anew. The Bunty carrier features a really sturdy metal frame that clips into place with ease and can fold flat when not in use. An all-round versatile pet carrier and the small size is suitable for cats and rabbits as well as dogs. Standard Ellie-Bo Dog Crate If you have a large car with ample boot space, then the regular Ellie-Bo crates will do the same job as the travel version whilst offering more room for larger dogs. Be sure to measure up before you decide. More expensive cars with air suspension often let you lower the car for ease of loading – look out for a button in the boot for this. If you send us a picture we may even feature over on our Social Media channels. A really practical crate that will fit in most cars and suitable for small-medium sized dogs. It’s made from a sturdy metal frame and will fit in most medium sized cars up to the size of a Discovery Sport. If you have a large breed dog such a Great Dane, then our crates won’t be suitable (unless you drive a van or a bus!). Or will you constantly have to lift your pride and joy in and out? These are a good alternative for those with dogs too large for the travel versions and are great on a practical level as you don’t need to buy more than one crate - you can use the same at home and on your travels. The sides are made of mesh offering good ventilation and a window for your pet to see where they’re going; and there’s a fleecy liner inside for your furry friend’s comfort. The best-value used estate cars >> No animals here: the best vegan-friendly cars >> Best seven-seaters You should never shut a dog in a boot with no window, and this rules out a surprising number of popular makes and models, including saloon cars. A highly recommended estate car, and perfect for dog owners Volkswagen Passat Estate Another capacious estate, with a 650-litre loadbay and low access to make getting in and out a cinch. Best SUV for dogs The best cars for big dogs are often SUVs (short for sports utility vehicles). Our best big boot cars for dogs include: SEAT and Cupra Leon Estate (above) Really fun to drive, plus plenty of space for Fido with a 620-litre boot. If you’re going on a long journey, then the more room you can offer your pup the better. There are also handy pockets on the outside of the frame where you can store and necessary accessories on your travels and the carry strap has a cushioned pad for comfort. A brilliant travel crate option with good air circulation and a non-slip thermo mat included. As far as, “will it fit in my car?”: for reference, the medium crate in the pictures is shown in a Ford Focus. And don’t forget a supply of treats, dog poo bags and a portable water bowl so you can look after pup on his or her travels. Which Dog Travel Crate to choose? Beyond finding the right size for your pet (and car!) this really comes down to personal preference and which will fit best with your lifestyle and how you intend to use the crate. Hatchbacks have the advantage of being cheaper and more plentiful, so can be a smart buy, especially if you don’t need acres of space. How much space does my dog need in a car?The Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (RSPCA) says: ‘When transporting your dog in a crate or container, you should ensure that it has enough room to sit and stand up at full height, turn around easily and lie down in a natural position. These family workhorses have the advantage of being lower to the ground than SUVs, which makes it easier to climb in and out of for our canine chums – and this becomes more important when your pooch reaches a pensionable age. How to transport a dog in a car in the UKThe Highway Code instructs drivers to make sure any pets are sufficiently restrained, so that they won’t distract or injure the driver and occupants of the car in an emergency stop. The small 24” carrier is suitable for toy dogs such as Pugs and Chihuahuas up to the size of a Bedlington Terrier. Alternatively, consider a dog ramp for cars – we list the best here in our handy round-up. Interiors can quickly become stifling and dangerous to dogs on a hot sunny day. Available in Red or Navy in three sizes. As far as pets are concerned, this means you should look out for a generously sized and easy-to-access boot. We’re looking for a large opening, typically found on a hatchback, estate car or SUV (sometimes called a crossover or 4x4). We are available during office hours on LiveChat and the telephone. This is cruel and illegal. Best estate car for dogs Dog-friendly car boots are often found in estate cars. Sports cars, convertibles and saloons are less practical in this regard, and you’ll be forced to carry your dog in the passenger compartment in these types of car. The best way to ascertain whether a crate will fit your car and the way you’d like to use it is to measure your boot and cross reference with the measurements on the product listing. A lot of car for your money (and mutt) Volkswagen Golf A good old-fashioned hatchback like the Golf with its 380-litre boot actually makes perfect sense for many owners of smaller and medium-sized dogs FAQ Can dogs travel in the boot of a car?Yes, but you must do so safely and humanely. Good cars for dogs will have a boot commensurately sized for the animal in question, like the Lexus NX in our gallery above: if you have a Chihuahua, you’ll be fine in a small hatchback, whereas owners of a Great Dane are going to need something more substantial. Just as car buyers’ shopping lists are tailored to their size of family and typical use cases, so your choice of car should take into account the needs of your four-legged friends. You should also ensure that your dog is able to see out of the container and that there is enough ventilation and airflow. Can your dog jump in unaided? These are raised-up 4x4 style cars whose proportions are bloated outside and in, making them a popular choice for families seeking extra space – for people and pups. >> Our guide to the best SUVs Just be mindful that the raised driving position that affords that usefully elevated view out also means that the loadbay of an SUV is typically higher from the ground (this type of car can have the boot floor 80cm off the ground). Whether it’s for walks in the park, packing for a comfortable family holiday or simply heading off to the vet, animal lovers need a car that can safely and comfortably carry dogs. What do you recommend?Look for a boot that’s lower to the ground. One of the best-value estate cars on sale Skoda Superb Estate If you need a really large 660-litre boot and a huge cabin, look no further. If you already one of these crates, or prefer an alternative method of safe travel, let us know. Britain is a nation of dog lovers and that means we often need to transport our hounds by car. Let’s cover the basics first. Take a tape measure to the showroom with you, so you can compare access. We like to know which products for you. This is just a guide and it’s always best to think about how you will use the crate and how far you will be intending to travel with it. Both the standard and deluxe crates come with a handy carry handle and there are travel bowls available separately to attach inside on longer journeys. Alternatively send us an e-mail to hello@lordsandlabradors.co.uk and we will get back to you as soon as we can. Extraordinary value, a fair 445-litre boot and tough-as-nails character >> The best family cars on sale today Best hatchback for dogs Your typical hatchback can normally carry most dogs in reasonable comfort – but bootspace is inevitably smaller than in an equivalent SUV or estate car. >> Our pick of the best small cars with big boots Which type of car is best for dogs? In this case we’d suggest a car cape, or similar, to cover your seats and a harness to secure your dog in the back seat. If you travel long journeys quite often then the more space you can offer your pet the better; if it’s an occasional trip to the vet then space is less important although you do want them to be comfortable. This is why we recommend the use of a dog crate or harness, or a simple divider to keep your hound safely in the boot. Smaller breeds, in particular, may not find it easy to leap into a boot high from ground level. Any boot opening 60-70cm off the ground should make for easy dog access. Estate cars typically have a boxier, more upright rear end for a voluminous bootspace and we find that dogs can easily get comfortable in most wagons. We get lots of questions about what crate will fit and what size is suitable for certain breeds. If your breed is at the larger end of the scale for the size of crate you’re looking at, it may be best to look at other options.
