Pokemon go spoofing android 2020 no root

How to spoof pokemon go without root.

With all conversation about privacy concerns recently, Google's name continues to come because they are a very data-oriented company. As an Android User, they basically know all about you based on using your device. This can easily scare some people who are concerned about your privacy and security. You have some say that personal data controls, but what if you want full control? One of the best ways to take full control over your device is to install a custom ROM. A personalized personalized ROM comes without the top Google applications (Gapps), but you would normally install the separate GAPPS package to recover them. However, if you want more freedom and privacy, simply skip the GAPPS package and go with Microg. You should notice that many applications require that Google Play services work properly; If contrary, there would be no point in them installed. Microg injects a modified version of these Google Core services required by most applications, but without all tracking that comes with a Google account. This increases your privacy level and can even improve the battery life. Custom Bootloader Recovery Unlocked Installed Custom ROM Installed Only On All Custom Roms Signature Signature Finging by Pattern, which is used to make the system think that true Google Play services are installed. It is necessary and necessarios for this whole thing to work. You may need to check again the location you have received your rom to see if it supports the signature pretending in the first place for Microg. At this point, you must have chosen a personalized ROM that you plan to blink to your device, and must have support for the pretending signature. As mentioned earlier, you would normally install a GAPPS package after interrupting a ROM to get Google's service back to your device. However, to use Microg, you should make sure you do not install a GAPPS package when following this guide. If you installed Gapps by accident (second nature), you go ahead and flash the custom ROM again and clean the data to be safe. After taking care of this, boot on the operating system and verify that Google's applications and services are not present, so you can move to the next step. In the past, to get the entire Microg package work, you would have been required to download several separate applications. However, NanoDroid now comes to simplify things with a single zip file that you can blink into a custom recovery, such as TWRP. There is also a younger and more convenient magisk module that is perfect for root users by there. You can not go wrong with any method! For all people TWRP there, they like to keep things as simple as possible, the installation of nanodroid with microg baked right could not be easier. To get, press the download link below and save the file in the internal storage of your Android phone through the "Download" folder. Download Nanodroid with Microg (.zip) After downloading the file, go ahead and initialize in Recovery Mode for the Main Screen TWRP Recovery mode. Tap "Install", navigate the location where you stored the nanodroid file, tap it once, then slide the slider to start the installation. After it ends the installation process, you can restart the device, so you can drive to the next step below. For root users, the developer Nift4 (previously Hieu Van) has prepared a special MAGISK module to get work without systems without having to rely on TWRP. To get the microg up and running through Magisk, follow the quick instructions below.Open The Magisk Manager application for the screen Tap the menu icon on the left, and then go to the "Downloads" section. Tap the Icon Search for the search for the term "microg", then the requirement must appear in the list immediately as the only entry. Tap the download arrow once, then "Install" to get. After the installation process is completed, tap the Restart button to restart your system. Now you can drive to the next step below. Go to your application application Locate the micro g application, then open it to the main screen. You can see a notification at the top, allowing you to know to grant permissions for the application. Expand Notification, tap "Request Lack of Permissions," and then allow permissions as requested. If you do not do this, your applications will not have access to the modified Google Services, which defeat the pursuit of MCG. Open the MCG application and tap the "Self-Check" section at the top of the screen. If your ROM bracket subscription for falsification mentioned from step 1, the first selection box should be verified. He will say, "System has signature counterfeiting!" if everything looks good from here.You should also realize that almost everything has an active selection box, which is exactly what you want to see. If you are getting a message that says: "Your rom does not have native support for signature counterfeiting", so you need to go back to step 1. At this point, you need to do a little more research And find a custom rom that makes signature support forger before you can continue. (2) This is exactly what you want to see when doing the self-check test. (3) This is what it looks like when your rom does not support spoofing signature. Your experience will not be big, without signature counterfeiting, so you should have a personalized ROM that supports. Look at the documentation for the ROM, ask the developer, or even ask the community if you can not figure it out. Alternatively, you can flash a ROM and take the self-check test to find out in an instant. Once your personalized ROM passes on the test, then you can go to the next step. If you want to be able to use location services, such as GPS for maps or time, you need to activate the options within the MCG application. Since you are not counting on officials play Google Services to fetch your location data, McG Handles through UnifiedNLP Settings.From the MCG application main screen, touch " UnifiedNLP Settings ", then" Configuring Backends Location ", and make sure Mozilla Location Service is checked. Tap "OK", then "Configure Address Search Backends," and also make sure that "Nominatim" is also marked. Bring the Status Bar Responsions and make sure the location settings are so you can use your new location services without Google. From this point on, GPS should work just as you were using the reais play Google's services. Now you can start building your application list as long as you had to jump out on the standard GAPPS packaging. This was needed to keep your privacy intact. You can not forget that you can use MCG with any personalized ROM that pretends subscription brackets. This means, in the last analysis, you will have a wide variety of options to choose at any time for your device. If you do not have a favorite ROM or do not know what works best for your needs, do not be afraid to try until you find a suitable choice. Good luck, and enjoy your biggest privacy!
