Managers face new challenges including globalization and ethical scrutiny. Organizations are open systems that obtain inputs from the environment, add value, and discharge products and services. Managers shape organizations to perform well for society ©2017 Cengage Learning. All Rights Reserved. O T consists of three parts viz. Organization Structure Organisational Design Organisational CultureORGANISATIONAL STRUCTURE 1.The formal system of task and authority relationships that control how people are to cooperate and use resources to achieve the organization's goals 2.Controls coordination and motivation: shapes behaviour of people and the organization 3. Is a response to contingencies involving environment' technology and human resources 4.Evolves as organization grows and differentiates 5.Can be managed and changed through the process of organizational designORGANISATIONAL DESIGN 1. The process by which managers select and manage various dimensions and components of organizational structure and culture so that an organization can control the activities necessary to achieve its goals. 2. Balances the need of the organization to manage external and internal pressures so that it can survive in the long run.ORGANISATIONAL CULTURE 1.The set of shared values and norms that control organizational members' interactions with each other and with the people outside the organization. 2. Controls coordination and motivation; shapes behaviour of people and the organization. 3. Is shaped by people,ethics, and organizational structure 4. Evolves as organization grows and differentiates. 5. Can be managed and changed through the process of organizational design. MECHANISTIC ORGANIC 1.Individual Specialization Employees work separately and Specialize in one clearly defined task 2.Simple Integrating mechanisms Hierarchy of authority is clearly Defined and is the major Integrating mechanism. 3 Centralization Authority to control tasks is kept at the top of the organization. Most communication is vertical 4. Standardization Extensive use is made of rules and SOPs to coordinate tasks. And work process is predictable 5. Status-Conscious Formal Organization Employees protect their area of authority and responsibility from others 1. Joint Specialization Employees work together and Coordinate their actions to find the best way of performing a task 2. Complex Integrating Mechanism Task forces and teams are the Major integrating mechanisms 3.Decentralization Authority to control tasks is Delegated to people at all levels Most Communication is lateral 4. Mutual Adjustment Extensive use is made of face-to face Contact to coordinate tasks, and work Process is relatively unpredictable 5. Expertise-Conscious Informal Organization Employees share their skills with others and authority and responsibility change Over time Organic Model Mechanistic Model 1. High Specialization 1. Cross-functional teams 2 Rigid Departmentalization 2. Cross-hierarchical teams 3. Clear chain of command 3. Free flow of information 4. Narrow spans of controls 4. Production Mgr. Production Mgr. Personnel Unit Personnel Unit PERSONNEL UNIT PERSONNEL UNIT ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE • An important aspect of structure is Complexity which consists of three aspects: • Vertical – how deep • Horizontal – how wide • Geographic – how spread • Another aspect of structure is Formalization which is the degree to which rules and procedures are spelt out in the organization. • The third aspect is Centralization which implies where decisions are made in the organization. • Therefore by structure we mean " the distributions, along various lines, of people among social positions that influence the role positions among these people." Implications are • Division of labor- people are given different tasks or jobs • Organizations contain ranks or hierarchies • The positions that people fill have rules and regulations that specify in varying degrees, how the incumbents are to behave in those positions ORGANIZATION STRUCTURE • Comments on structure: • " Structures shape people's practices, but it is also people's practices that constitute(andreproduce) structure." Sewell-1992 • Structure does not yield total conformity, but it is intended to prevent random behaviour. • "Structure is a juxtaposition of technological solutions, political exchanges, and social interpretation in and around organizations, which results in modes of structuring, and that there is a dialectical unfolding of relations among organizational actors. This results in consequences for organizational forms." • (Fombrun, 1986) • Structure is thus continually emergent. • 4. Organizational structures serve three basic functions • (a) Produce organizational outputs to achieve organizational goals • (b) To minimize or at least regulate the influence of individual variations on the organization. This is done to ensure that individuals conform to requirements of the organization and not vice versa • (c) Structures are the settings in which power is exercised(structures also set or determine which positions have power in the first placeFACTORS WHICH AFFECT STRUCTURE 1. STRATEGY 2. ORGANISATION SIZE 3. TECHNOLOGY 4. ENVIRONMENT • Strategy is a process that results in an outcome which is the basis for organizational decisions and actions. • There are three strategy dimensions • Innovation Strategy • Cost Minimization Strategy • Imitation Strategy Innovation Strategy emphasizes the introduction of major New products and services. Cost Minimization Strategy emphasizes tight cost controls. Avoidance of unnecessary innovation or marketing expenses. And price cutting. Imitation Strategy seeks to move into new products or new Markets only after their viability has already been proven. IMPACT OF STRATEGY ON STRUCTURE • Strategy can be defined as the determination of the basic long-term goals and objectives of the enterprise, and the adoption of courses of action and allocation of resources necessary for carrying out the goals. • Decisions involve: • Expanding the volume of activities • Setting up distant plants and offices • Moving into new economic functions • Diversifying into many lines of business involving defining new basic goals • The above has to be done in response to: • Shifting demands • Changing sources of supply • Fluctuating economic conditions • New technological developments • Actions of competitors • As Peter Drucker puts it " Structure is a means for attaining the goals and objectives of an institution. Any work on structure must therefore start with objectives and strategy." IMPACT OF STRATEGY ON STRUCTURE From the above definition the question which arises is whether strategy is premeditated or it just emerges. There are two views viz. The Planning Model describes strategy as a plan or explicit set of guidelines developed in advance. Managers identify where they want to go ; and then they develop a systematic and structured plan to get there. This was the dominant thinking until recently. The Evolutionary Model which is a recent perspective says that Strategy is not necessarily a well-thought-out and systematic plan e.g.women's clothing moving to food business. The advantage of the evolutionary model is that of being able to cope with both static and dynamic strategies. Environmental Factors & Organizational Factors Strategy StructureIMPACT OF STRATEGY ON STRUCTURE • Organizations which are in multiple businesses need to develop different strategies for different levels of businesses. Such an organization will need to have three levels of strategy. • Corporate-level Strategy • Business-level Strategy Multibusiness Corporation Corporate Level Business Unit-1 Business Unit-2 Business Unit-3 Business Level Product 1 Product 2 Product 3 IMPACT OF STRATEGY ON STRUCTURE • There are four dimensions to strategy • In structure: it means that strategy not mean merely simple and cosmetic changes but meaningful and unique innovations e.g.M OR Apple Computers • Market Differentiation-strives to create customer loyalty and uniquely meeting a particular need e.g.designer apparel or MERC • Breadth: the scope of the market the business caters • to in terms of geographical range and number of products • 4. Cost Control: considers tightly controlled costs, refrains from unnecessary expenses and cuts prices • e.g. Walmart IMPACT OF STRATEGY ON STRUCTURE • Chandler's Strategy -structure thesis • Alfred Chandler – a Harvard historian has published his work in the • early 60s with extensive research of large American companies during • The period 1909 and 1959. He said, " A new strategy required a new or • at least refashioned structure if the enlarged enterprise was to be operated efficiently.... Unless structure follows strategy, inefficiency results." • Backward integration • Creating product groups if the variety of products was large • Realizing financial, technological and personnel economies of growth • and size cannot be realized • Time 1 +1 +1 +2 • Product Diversification Low High • Strategy • Structure Simple Functional Divisional IMPACT OF SIZE ON ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE • Increased size affects structure in the following ways • (a) Greater variety of products • (b) Greater variety of customers • (c) Greater variety of markets • (d) Greater variety of competitors • (e) Greater variety of resources • (f) Greater variety of technology • (g) Greater variety of government • (h) Greater variety of social • (i) Greater variety of economic • (j) Greater variety of
